Camo-netting can be manufactured incredibly cheaply and easily: simply using nets with leaves, vegetation and rags threaded through it can produce enough for the Vietcong's purposes. It is capable of concealing both structures and units from ARVN patrols, until the Vietcong decide to strike. This has made it a nightmare for the ARVN, and has allowed the Vietcong to win many battles that they ...

The problem with the idea is that the camo net is also a rendered object which may or may not be visible (stick out) as such from a distance. Car and net are being rendered but all other vegetation isn't drawn from where you're looking which would nullify the entire idea and basically make no difference in terms of hiding anything.

Jeff Speck has dedicated his career to determining what makes cities thrive. And he has boiled it down to one key factor: walkability. The very idea of a modern metropolis evokes visions of bustling sidewalks, vital mass transit, and a vibrant, pedestrian-friendly urban core. But in the typical American city, the car is still king, and downtown is a place that's easy to drive to but often not worth arriving at. Making walkability happen is relatively easy and cheap; seeing exactly what needs to be done is the trick. In this essential new book, Speck reveals the invisible workings of the city, how simple decisions have cascading effects, and how we can all make the right choices for our communities. Bursting with sharp observations and real-world examples, giving key insight into what urban planners actually do and how places can and do change, Walkable City lays out a practical, necessary, and eminently achievable vision of how to make our normal American cities great again.

Lists more than 80,000 rhyming words, including single, double, and triple rhymes, and offers information on rhyme schemes, meter, and poetic forms.

"Cities are the future of the human race, and Jeff Speck knows how to make them work." —David Owen, staff writer at the New Yorker Nearly every US city would like to be more walkable—for reasons of health, wealth, and the environment—yet few are taking the proper steps to get there. The goals are often clear, but the path is seldom easy. Jeff Speck's follow-up to his bestselling Walkable City is the resource that cities and citizens need to usher in an era of renewed street life. Walkable City Rules is a doer's guide to making change in cities, and making it now. The 101 rules are practical yet engaging—worded for arguments at the planning commission, illustrated for clarity, and packed with specifications as well as data. For ease of use, the rules are grouped into 19 chapters that cover everything from selling walkability, to getting the parking right, escaping automobilism, making comfortable spaces and interesting places, and doing it now! Walkable City was written to inspire; Walkable City Rules was written to enable. It is the most comprehensive tool available for bringing the latest and most effective city-planning practices to bear in your community. The content and presentation make it a force multiplier for place-makers and change-makers everywhere.

"The velvet tongue" That's what they hear "The silent fixer" That's what they whisper "Turo DeMarco can slice you with that smile" It's been known to happen But the one truth they don't know could get me killed. It's already gotten me thrown into the fire. I'm the rising dark star of Chicago's criminal underworld, but I've been warned, and I have one chance to make things right, flying halfway around the world to do it. Then one hot AF heiress gets in my way with an unforgettable kiss and a blast of gunfire, hurling us both into the eye of a Mediterranean hurricane, tangling us in the ultimate high stake game Our impulsive escape to a Greek island exposes cruel lies, sour truths, explosive passion, and bares our bitter souls I was always told that actions speak louder than words, and Adriana proved it to me. Yet there's one thing that speaks even louder—Blood Blood in my heart, blood on my hands. Blood never lies, never plays games. Neither do I

My resurrection, they call it. They have no bloody idea. Shipwrecked and lost, left for dead, Abandoned by my own family. Drugged and addicted. My wife saved me, brought me home. I didn't even know I had a wife—can I trust her? I know I want her. Desperately. We are two of a kind—the manipulated, the tossed off, the rejected. Bitter disappointments, painful secrets, age-old jealousies are my new shipwreck, and my wife my new opium. Is satisfaction to be found in revenge or revenge in satisfaction? One thing I do know, without each other we're both doomed.
